CITIZEN POLICE ACADEMY

The Stephenville Police

Department Citizen

What is it?

Police Academy is a 30-hour block of instruction designed to give the public a working knowledge of the Stephenville Police Department's personnel and policies. It consists of a series of classes, held once each week for three hours. The instruction is comprehensive, covering a different area of the police department each week. Officers, supervisors and personnel assigned to that particular division conduct each instructional block.

Who May Attend?

The class is made up of a cross section of the Stephenville community. Doctors, architects, homemakers, laborers, students, secretaries, salespersons and others are encouraged to apply for admission. The academy is held once a year in the Fall. The minimum age for enrollment is 21 and you must live, work or have an interest in law enforcement or the City of Stephenville.

The Purpose.

The Stephenville CPA was created in order to provide enough information to the citizens that attend so that they may make informed judgments about the police department and police activity. It is further hoped that the instruction will increase police awareness whereas to dispel suspicions and misconceptions and to increase police community rapport through this educative process. The department, in turn, becomes more aware of the feelings and concerns of the community from the participants' interaction and input. It is, indeed, a two-way learning experience.
